WANT MORE SPEED

So Starter McKnight Took Charge of a Trolley Car Himself.

Drove the Motorman Off the Platform with a Pistol.

Held Up Finally by a Policeman, Averting an Accident.

The Masepath race track will probably not be graced to-night by the presence of Assistant Starter Arthur McKnight.

Either the excessive rainfall which flooded the Masepath race track yesterday, or something of an entirely non-aqueous nature—and the latter seems probable—impelled Mr. McKnight to go on a great big bender last night, and this morning he was held in the Ewen Street Court, Brooklyn, on a charge of assault in the first degree.

McKnight got away from the track last night with a very bad start, and at several turns slowed down to a walk, which invariably ended at a saloon bar. He was off again, in each instance, however, and pulled into the stretch to Brooklyn on a Union avenue trolley car.

Here he acted badly and made several bad breaks. The pace didn't suit him and he made several kicks against the motorman's stopping the car to let passengers get on, declaring that all subsequent entries must be scratched.

Seeing that the motorman, Watson Kruger, paid no attention to his warnings, McKnight pulled a pistol and forced him to dismount. Then he took charge of the car himself and for the next few minutes he made better time than he has ever been witnessed on the electric lighted course over in New York.

Standing on the front platform with one hand on the lever, the other grasping his gun, the run-inflamed McKnight sent the car flying along the rails at a terrific rate of speed. The passengers, terrified, fled in all directions.

As it neared the corner of Broadway and Flushing avenue, Policeman Helms, who was on duty, saw the car and rushed to the front of the car.

Helms, however, was equal to the emergency. Swinging onto the rear of the car, he dashed through the car to the front and knocked McKnight to the floor with a well-directed blow.

McKnight, however, was not so easily deterred. He sprang up and, with a cry, rushed to the front of the car, where he was again held by Helms.

Helms, however, was equal to the emergency. Swinging onto the rear of the car, he dashed through the car to the front and knocked McKnight to the floor with a well-directed blow.

RAN OPEN CARS IN THE RAIN.

Brooklyn City Railroad Endangered Public Health for Money.

Many Patrons Got Drenched in the "Pneumonia Breeds."

People who live along the various trolley lines operated by the Brooklyn City Railroad Company were loud in their denunciation of the managers of that corporation this morning for their policy of running open cars in stormy weather.

Many persons living uptown were about to take the cars in preference to the elevated, so as to escape walking several blocks from the stations to their homes. During the storm yesterday open cars were operated over every line owned by this company. The rain poured into the cars, drenching the seats, and making everybody uncomfortable.

Hundreds of people caught cold, and as a result they are coughing to-day, and in some instances are threatened with an attack of pneumonia. To add to the general discomfort of travel on these lines yesterday some of the patrons of the Brooklyn City Railroad Company were not only drenched by a car fare, but were compelled to walk several blocks in the storm to get to a car.

The "form was at 4:30 o'clock when an "Evening World" reporter boarded a car at Clinton street, intending to ride to Fulton street. He was fastened to the roof of the car, directly above the motorman, bore the inscription "Fulton street."

At the corner of Tillary street several parties of women who had just left the car, were standing on the sidewalk. The conductor was unusually prompt in demanding their fare. To the surprise of the passengers, the car turned into Myrtle avenue and started down the grade.

"It is a Greenpoint car," said the conductor, when several passengers demanded to know why the car did not go up Fulton street. "But a sign over the front platform says that the car goes up Fulton street?"

"I can't help it. Another sign on the side says Greenpoint. I didn't put the sign there. If you don't want to go my way, you can get out here." The passengers were indignant, and they demanded the return of the money they had paid in fare.

"You can't get any money out of me," said the conductor. "The car has gone almost to Pearl street, and the passengers, who were angry at the conductor's refusal to return the money, were angry at the conductor's refusal to return the money."

The reason for sending out open cars in such weather was thus explained by the conductor. "A closed car will only seat about twenty-five people," he said, "and we can run about forty more inside and upon the platform. An open car will easily seat forty-five, and have been many times filled up. It is a question of economy."

About a week ago Health Commissioner Griffin prohibited the various street-car companies from running open cars in such weather. The Commissioner said that a certain degree of health Commissioner Griffin, who poses as a reformer, might have been expected to prohibit the various street-car companies from running open cars in such weather.

FIVE MEN BURNED. NO LOSS, SAYS JAPAN

Explosion in the Cellar of a Flooded Paint Shop.

Spontaneous Combustion Believed to Be the Cause.

Victims Able to Leave Fordham Hospital for Their Homes.

Two alarms of fire were sent in for a fire which started in the cellar of William Moore's paint shop, 4236 Third avenue, at 6:30 o'clock this morning. The fire is supposed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion.

Moore and four of his workmen were about to take from the cellar some barrels of oil and paint, which were floating about in several feet of water, when an explosion occurred and all of the men were painfully burned about the face and hands. They were removed to the Fordham Hospital, where their wounds were dressed, after which they were able to go to their homes.

The injured were William Moore, owner of the paint shop, and Charles Goodwin, twenty-three years old, of 182 East One Hundred and Thirteenth street; Oscar Goodwin, nineteen years old, of 22 Park avenue; Frederick Edmondson, seventeen years old, of 238 Arthur avenue; and Andrew Knab, nineteen years old, of 182 East One Hundred and Thirteenth street. All are employees of Moore.

The heavy rain of yesterday and last night filled up the sewers in Fordham, and the water flowed into Moore's cellar, where he kept his paints and oils. His shop is on the ground floor, over which he and his wife live.

The report that Admiral Ting and Col. von Hannekin were severely wounded seems to be incorrect, for they have both returned to duty. The officials of the Japanese Legation here have received a private cable message from Yokohama, dated today, saying that on Sept. 16 twelve Chinese ships were encountered near Japanese ships, with the result that, after severe fighting, the Chinese lost four vessels and the Japanese none.

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 20.—The particulars received here in regard to the battle of the Japanese and Chinese ships, which was fought on Sept. 16, show that the Chinese lost 2,000 killed and 14,500 wounded and prisoners. A fourth part of the Chinese army escaped. The Japanese loss was only about 10 officers wounded and 260 soldiers killed.

The Japanese army is marching on Wiju, which is believed to be reached by the end of September. The report that Admiral Ting and Col. von Hannekin were severely wounded seems to be incorrect, for they have both returned to duty.

BLACKSMITH-SHOP BURNED.

Firemen Believe Weinstein Started the Fire by Accident.

Plumes, which did $100 damage, started at 3:30 o'clock this morning in the blacksmith shop of Louis Weinstein, at 199 Division street. The shop is in the basement of a three-story brick building.

At 2:40 o'clock Policeman O'Connell, passing the Division street house, heard some rattling of the door of the blacksmith shop. He asked who was there, and a man named Weinstein answered: "That's all right; it's me. So the policeman went on, and thought no more of the affair."

Nearly an hour after that flames were seen coming from the shop. Weinstein, who was in the shop, tried to put out the fire himself, but when he saw that it was beyond his power, he ran away and left the fire to burn.

The place was not insured, and the fire marshal does not regard the fire as suspicious.

Later, the prisoners were allowed to send word to their friends that the brigades demanded that no pursuit be made until a ransom was paid.

A detachment of 300 soldiers was sent to attack the brigands, and in the fight which followed the brigands were exterminated, but the Procureur du Roi was killed and the Judge was mortally wounded.

The New Discoveries of Interest to Every One.

The Learned Professor a Leading Authority—The Truth of His Statements Proven by the Success of His Methods.

Mr. J. Hammer, of East 21st st., Brooklyn, says: "Eighteen months ago I was afflicted with rheumatism that I could not dress myself. I tried all the doctors in Brooklyn, but they gave me up as hopeless. I also tried numerous preparations, but failed to find any relief. At last I heard of the new discovery, and I bought a bottle of the new discovery. The effect was marvellous. I improved at once, and found that less than two bottles were sufficient to cure me completely. As I have not had a twinge of rheumatism since, I can say that the new discovery is a perfect cure for rheumatism."

Mrs. Woods, 533 West 46th st., says: "I want every one to know what a grand remedy Prof. Munyon has discovered for rheumatism. I also tried numerous preparations, but failed to find any relief. At last I heard of the new discovery, and I bought a bottle of the new discovery. The effect was marvellous. I improved at once, and found that less than two bottles were sufficient to cure me completely. 2,000 BOSTON TAILORS OUT.

Garment-Workers' Strike Opens Up Promisingly To-Day.

A Number of Contractors Already Willing to Yield.

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—Acting upon the instruction of Clothing Trades Council No. 2, the garment-makers of this city, to the number of 2,000, struck work this morning, and it is expected that tonight there will not be a clothing contractor able to continue business, and that 2,000 operatives will be idle.

Promptly at 7 o'clock this morning the committee having charge of the strike started on their rounds and called out the men systematically, not a contractor being overlooked. This action is the result of the refusal of a number of contractors to accede to the demands of the "Union" for the abolition of the "jumping" and "sweating" systems and the introduction of the weekly wage system. The operatives are also desirous of establishing a working day of nine hours with fixed wages.

Many of the contractors, when seen by the committee from the "Union," were agreeable to the change, and it was hoped that the innovation would go into effect without any precipitation. The members of the strike committee are jubilant over their work. Every contractor who has acceded to the demands of the "Union" has been called out to stop work. It was expected that there would be some difficulty with the Italian and Lithuanian operatives, but they responded as readily as the others.

The headquarters of the garment workers has been crowded all day with an excited and excited crowd of men and women, who declare they will not return to their benches and machines until their demands are met. The contractors have a large amount of work half finished, and heavy orders are being received. It is expected that the strike will continue for some time.
